→ What sets Triple Surge Guard apart?

While most power strips can only withstand 6,000 volts and 3,000 amps, Triple Surge Guard withstands a minimum of 10,000 volts and up to 40,000 amps.

Power strips cannot protect hard-wired appliances, while Triple Surge Guard provides protection for permanently wired and plug-in appliances.

→ Three Way Protection

Triple Surge Guard blocks three major avenues through which surges can enter your home:

- Your electric lines
- Your cable or satellite lines
- Your phone lines

This system protects permanently wired and plug-in equipment by capturing and arresting high-voltage surges that may enter your home.

→ Warranty

In the unlikely event that Triple Surge Guard fails and a power surge damages your appliances or electronics, the Triple Surge Guard manufacturer's warranty covers you up to $5,000 per item and up to $50,000 per incident.

See website for more details.
