LAST CALL FOR STUDENTS TO APPLY FOR SUMMER BASKETBALL CAMP SCHOLARSHIPS

STATESVILLE, N.C. - The deadline of March 15 is quickly approaching for students to apply for an all-expense paid scholarship from EnergyUnited to attend summer basketball camps at two of the state's largest universities.

EnergyUnited will select one young man for a scholarship to attend the Roy Williams Carolina Basketball Camp June 22-26 at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and one local young lady for the Wolfpack Women's Basketball Camp June 9-12 at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. The scholarships cover all expenses at the overnight camps and provide a glimpse into life on a college campus. At camp, students will work directly with players and coaches to develop new skills to improve their game, while also focusing on key topics such as leadership and teamwork. Applications are being accepted through March 15, 2019 and can be found online at www.energyunited.com/sports-camp.

"These scholarships are a fantastic way for young student-athletes to experience life on a college campus and learn from some of the most renowned players and coaches in all of college basketball," said Maureen Moore, communications manager for EnergyUnited. "We're proud to reward local students for their hard work by providing this opportunity to have fun, make new friends and develop skills that will help them excel on and off the court."

To be eligible to apply, students must be enrolled in the fifth, sixth or seventh grade during the 2018-2019 school year. Applicants must have permission from a parent or guardian to attend the overnight camp and must provide their own transportation to and from the camp if selected to attend.
